ABANDON KANSAS RELEASES CHRISTMAS SONG “O COME ALL YE FAITHFUL” DIGITALLY NOVEMBER 17, 2009

Coming off an amazing fall tour with House of Heroes and The Wedding, Abandon Kansas has just recorded their own version of the Christmas classic, O Come All Ye Faithful, available exclusively as a digital download on November 17.

The band has also released a video of the recording session for the song, which can be found on the Abandon Kansas YouTube channel at:

True to their road warrior reputation, Abandon Kansas has opted to immediately head back on the road in support of their EP We're All Going Somewhere in November with Owl City side-project Swimming with Dolphins.

We're All Going Somewhere continues to receive rave reviews, such as:
The Album Project – “melodic rock songs which are so pure and inviting”

The Lexington Music Press - Abandon Kansas have released an addictive, sweet, and melodic EP with We're All Going Somewhere. 4 _ stars.

Indie Vision Music - Their debut EP, We're All Going Somewhere, is six songs of modern pop/indie rock that doesn't forsake the much-needed intelligent and insightful lyrics.

CCM - this six-song offering leaves listeners wanting much more, building anticipation for a full-length offering that will hopefully follow in rapid order.

Stereotruth - a great mix of instruments, melodies and emotion filled vocals. If you are looking for something new to listen to then I recommend picking up their EP.

Oh Come All Ye Faithful will be available digitally on November 17.
